

Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
White was the the blizzard
Of February 22, 1922!

Instructions:

1. Fold the paper on the dotted line, historic images facing out.
2. Keeping this first fold in place, now fold along the solid line, keeping the historic images on the outside of the card and poem on the inside of the card.

1219 Nokomis Street
Alexandria MN 56308

320-762-0382

historic@dchsmn.org

dchsmn.org

Find us on Facebook and Instagram @dchsmn!

A special note for you...

100 years ago in 1922, across Feb. 21-23, a heavy blizzard swept through Minnesota. These photographs, dated February 22, 1922, show the large piles of snow along Broadway Street in Alexandria, Minnesota. The photographer of the bottom photo is standing on the east side of Broadway, looking northwest to the west 500s block.

Potential identifications in the top photo, L-R:
Bob Cordes, Clarence Johnson, and Coleman Alstead

Potential identifications in the bottom photo, L-R:
Corry Largren, unknown, Dean/Bob Cordes, and Al Klitzke

Images are from the collection of the
Douglas County Historical Society, MN.

A "Twos-Day" Blizzard